++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy with any patchy rain clearing, a frost overnight.

Today:
A cloudy start with the odd patch of rain possible, clearing from the north to give way to sunny spells for southern areas and clear skies across Cumbria. Feeling slightly cooler than recently. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Apart from the odd bit of coastal cloud, clear skies develop into the evening and overnight. A frost to follow, locally severe in the east. Minimum temperature -4 deg C (25 deg F).

Thursday:
A cold start, but with fine and settled conditions it will soon feel warm under clear, sunny skies. Remaining clear overnight, with another chance of a frost, although less severe. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Remaining largely dry throughout and rather warm during the daytime, but risk of frost remains overnight under clear skies. Sunny and fine Friday. Turning cloudier Saturday, and slightly cooler Sunday.
